

Photo: Wendell Hanson signs my drawing of his B-25H. When we meet, remind me to share the business advice he gave me.

When an old man dies, a library burns.

Yeah, it makes me sad, too. All that knowledge, experience—wisdom—going up in smoke.

But, when I can truly get to know an old warrior and learn about their life, I can capture the volumes of their life experiences and share it with thousands of others around the world.

They learned, the rest of us learn and the world becomes a better place. And another library of life remains open.

My name is John Mollison and I interview old guys and draw their airplanes.

WEB: www.JohnMollison.com

BLOG: www.JohnMollison.com (click on the blue star) ★

SHOW: www.OldGuysAndTheirAirplanes.com

EMAIL: John@JohnMollison.com

DIRECT: 605-261-6070

Drawing: The F-4E Phantom flown by Crawford Shockley of the 334th TFS, Ubon, Thailand. "Shock" remains one of the most beloved leaders I've ever met and I'm happy to give you my thoughts on why.

ABOUT JOHN MOLLISON

Artwork displayed in galleries, museums and collections in at least 13 countries.
(Belgium, France, Ireland, England, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Turkey, Brazil, Japan, Vietnam, China and the U.S.A.)

Writing is read (monthly) by thousands of history geeks, aviation enthusiasts and mostly people who believe that wisdom comes from experience.

Author: "666 The Devil's Number" authorized biography of Col. Hank Snow
(search Apple iBooks)

Host and Creator of the show, "Old Guys and Their Airplanes."

Won lots of awards.

Drawing: Leo Istas flew this F4U-1 Corsair when he won the Distinguished Flying Cross for single-handedly sinking a Japanese transport ship. But, the best part of his life was spent as a baker in a small town bakery. I'm happy to tell you why, too.

 "523"

 Goodyear FG-1A Corsair as flown by
Lt. Leo Istas, VMF-313

WEB: www.JohnMollison.com

BLOG: www.JohnMollison.com (click on the blue star) ★

SHOW: www.OldGuysAndTheirAirplanes.com

EMAIL: John@JohnMollison.com

DIRECT: 605-261-6070